THE HON'BLE SRI JUSTICE V.V.S. RAO

WRIT PETITION No.22571 of 2006

ORDER:

The petitioner filed instant writ petition seeking a writ of Mandamus declaring the action of the third respondent, namely, the Sub-Registrar, Kurnool, in registering the cancellation deed bearing No.12000/2006 dated 13-09-2006 duly cancelling the sale deed bearing No.3104/2006 dated 14-03-2006 as illegal, arbitrary and contrary to the provisions of the Registration Act, 1908.

The petitioner purchased house site admeasuring 540 sq. yards in survey No.70J situated at Joharapuram, Kurnool District, from the fourth respondent under registered sale deed bearing document No. No.3104/2006 dated 14-03-2006. While so, the fourth respondent with mala fide intention approached the third respondent for cancellation of the sale deed and got the same cancelled by cancellation deed bearing document No.12000/2006 on 13-09-2006. The petitioner contends that registration of cancellation deed by the third respondent is illegal and contrary to the provisions of the Registration Act.

Two questions would arise in this writ petition. First, whether it is competent to the registering authority to accept and register a cancellation deed nullifying the sale deed executed earlier. Second, whether a writ petition would lie to invalidate the cancellation deed at the instance of the person who initially obtained sale deed.

A Full Bench of this Court in Yanala Malleshwari and others v. Smt.Ananthula Sayamma and others[1] laid down as under.

> The person, who has ex facie right whether such right is registered or not can always approach the registering authority, with a request to cancel a sale deed, which was registered earlier by such registering authority by showing that subsequent registration was obtained by fraud by a person who is not entitled to transfer the property or that such transfer was registered by playing fraud on the owner or on the stranger. In the present statutory dispensation, namely Transfer of Property Act, Contract Act, Specific Relief Act and Registration Act, the Court does not see any prohibition operating on the exercise of inherent power by the registering authority to cancel the sale deed earlier registered, which is likely to cause prejudice to the true owner as well as to the entire public at large.

The Full Bench also considered the question whether the writ petition is maintainable for invalidation of cancellation deed or for cancellation of an instrument, which purports to nullify the sale deed registered earlier. Referring to case law, Full Bench observed as under.

> That disputed questions of fact cannot be gone into in a writ petition is axiomatic. A copious reference to case law is not necessary. As pointed out earlier, among many; it is one of the limitations on the exercise of power of judicial review… … … Therefore, this Court is of considered opinion that the parties should be relegated to the civil Court to file suit either under Section 31 or under Section 34 of Specific Relief Act. Point No.2 is answered accordingly.

Following the same, this writ petition is dismissed observing that the petitioner may approach the civil Court and file a suit either under Section 31 or under Section 34 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963. It may also be noted that as and when the petitioner files the suit, the civil Court has to decide the disputed questions of fact without in any manner being influenced by the decision of the Full Bench in Yanala Malleshwari (supra) or this order. No costs.
